Is Your Organization Future Ready?

Preparing You For The Unknown

Procurement teams spend a lot of time looking to understand their supplier's identity, gathering quality data, and monitoring the changes occurring with the supplier. The traditional siloed methods to discover, onboard, and monitor suppliers can't keep up with the pace of evolving market conditions.

Moody's Analytics is working in alliance with Trust Your Supplier (TYS) to provide a single point of visibility and real-time insights into supplier risk. This allows organizations to manage a broad spectrum of subject areas to inform compliance with global and industry regulations as well as to have centralized oversight of their supplier base to predict and mitigate risk.
